

Postcard Gems from an Outstanding Canadian

Born in Lunenburg in 1862, W. E. Hebb moved to Halifax at age 18 to work for the Nova Scotia Printing Company. It was here that he first demonstrated an uncanny ability to excel at all of his endeavours. His list of accomplishments in business, and his devotion to the public good would be hard to match today.

W. E. Hebb also published some wonderful postcards during this popular hobby's golden age (1900–1914). And they're all inside this handbook:

- Terrific views of Halifax daily life, the city's thriving businesses, the arrival of immigrants, etc.
- Beautiful patriotic, military and novelty postcards.
- A stunning series showing the Newfoundland sealing fleet.
- Scenic views of Lunenburg and other historic towns in Atlantic Canada.
